CORRECTIONS TO WITHHOLDING TAX RATE

Newport Private Wealth and its service partners make every effort to ensure non-resident tax is withheld at the correct rate, based on your actual residency. Unfortunately, Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) does not permit Newport Private Wealth to reimburse your account for excess tax deducted.

If you are a Canadian resident, you may claim a refund by including the NR4 slips with your Canadian income tax return.

If you are a non-resident, and you believe you qualify for a lower tax rate, you may apply for a refund using form NR7-R, An Application For Refund of Non-Resident Tax Withheld available at canada.ca/en/revenue-agency.

FAQs

Can management fees be deducted from income on my tax return?

Management fees paid in the Newport Funds are deducted from the income earned in the Fund, before the income is distributed to you, for maximum tax efficiency. Since these management fees are already deducted at the Fund level, you cannot deduct them on your personal tax return. However, you may pay management fees directly on other securities (stocks, bonds etc.) in your accounts. These management fees charged on your taxable account(s) can be deducted on your personal tax return. The management fees for the year can be found on the Fees & Charges Report included with your 2025 Q4 statement.

On the tax return, I am asked if I own foreign property with a value greater than CAD $100,000. How do I know if I own foreign property worth more than CAD $100,000 and how do I obtain the information to file form T-1135, if I do?

Foreign property is defined as assets that are held outside Canada. Examples of these would be bank accounts or securities owned in companies that are domiciled outside of Canada. You will need to calculate the total value of all of the assets outside of Canada. Newport will provide you with information about any foreign property that you hold in your Newport taxable account to assist you with completing the form T-1135. If you own these types of assets with other financial institutions, you will need to reach out to those institutions for similar information.

I don't think I got all my tax slips. How do I check? How do I get copies of any slips I am missing?

You can register with CRA My Account to get information about the slips that have been filed with CRA on your behalf. It can take up to 30 days for the slips that have been filed to be shown on your profile so it's important to check back often. Since the last deadline for filing slips is end of March, it's good to do a final check in April.

If you have registered for NBIN's client portal, you can log in to view and download copies of the slips mailed to you by NBIN.

If you believe you are missing a T3 slip for your Newport Funds or any other slips, please contact us for a copy.
